

How To Setup File Exclusion Scanning For CA Internet Security Suite 2010 Formally Known As Vet Antivirus

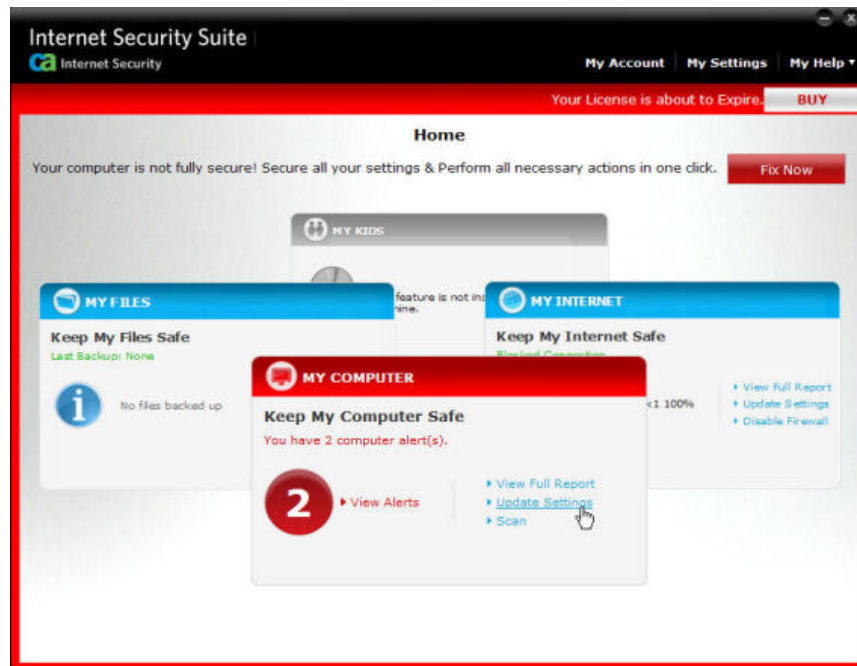

1. ▲ Right mouse click on CA Security Centre icon in the tray menu next to time display bottom right hand corner of screen, go to My Computer and then click on Enable Snooze.

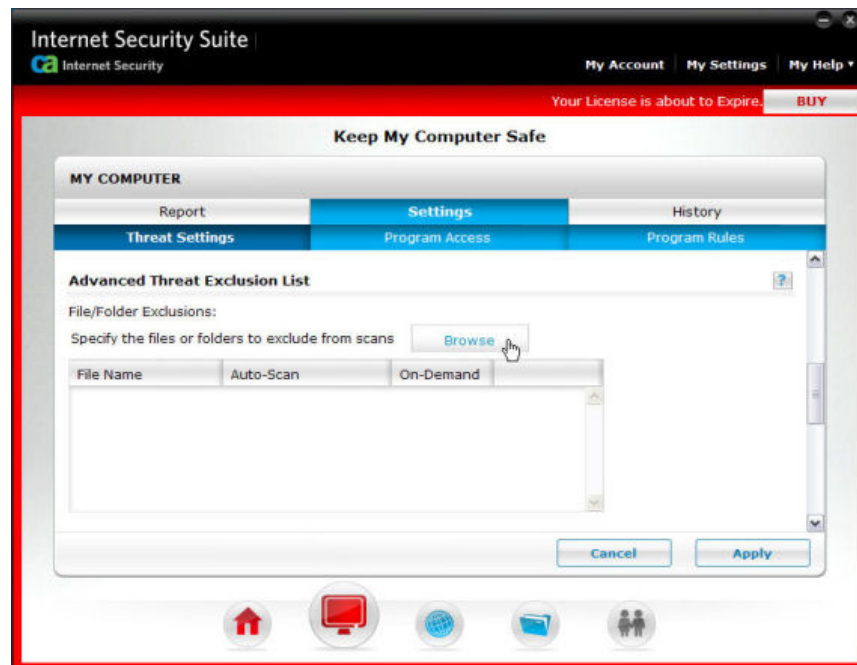

2. ▲ Enter 30 in the minute field and then click on Snooze, once the screen has closed double click on the CA Security Centre icon in the tray menu this will bring the Home screen up to view.

How To Setup File Exclusion Scanning For CA Internet Security Suite 2010 Formally Known As Vet Antivirus

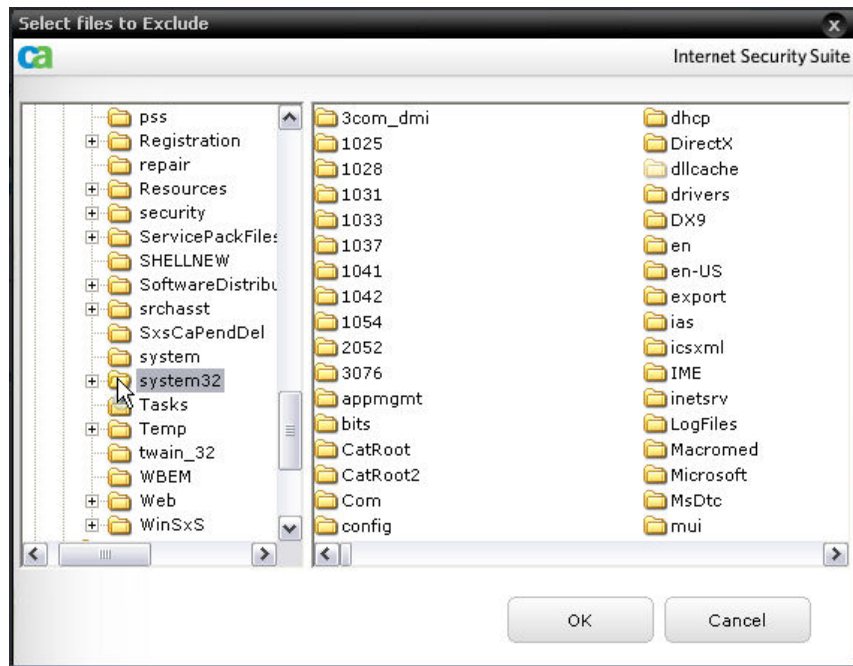

3. ▲ Choose My Computer tab then click on Update Settings.

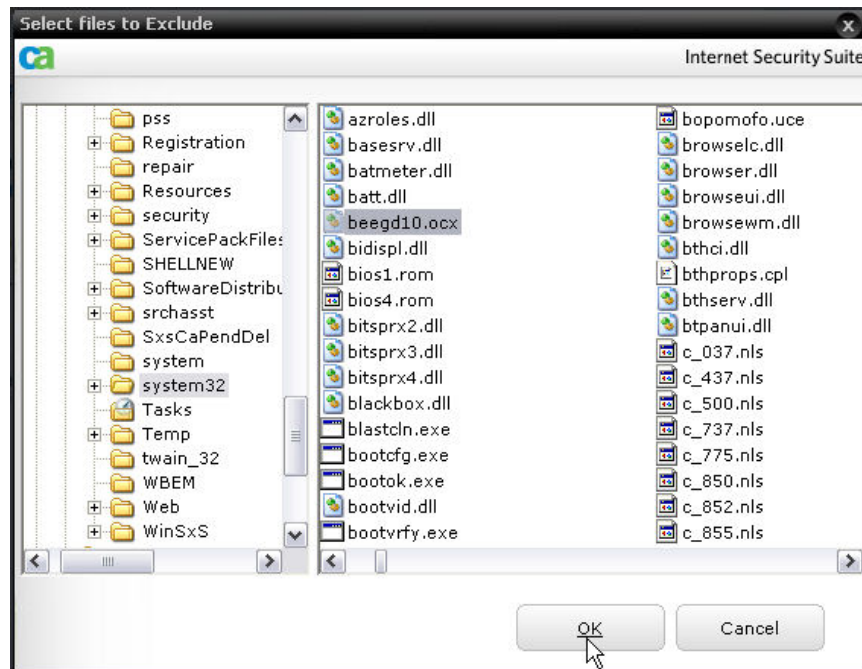

4. ▲ Scroll down to the Advanced Threat Exclusion List section then click on the Browse button.

How To Setup File Exclusion Scanning For CA Internet Security Suite 2010 Formally Known As Vet Antivirus

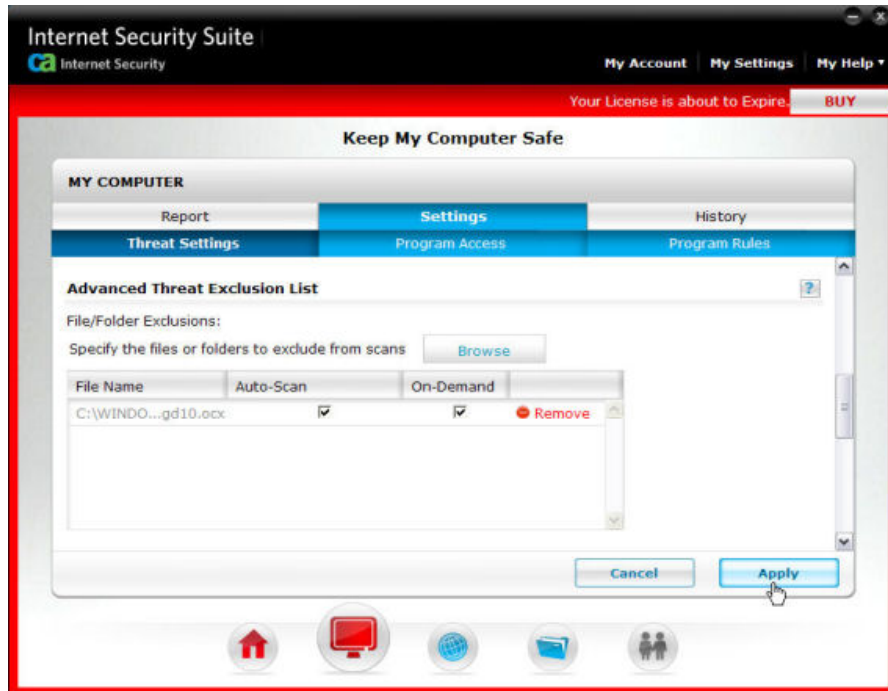

5. ▲ Scroll down in the left hand column to the System32 folder located in C:\Windows\System32 to find this folder click on the small square box with a cross in it next to My Computer do the same for your (C) Drive and again at the Windows folder.

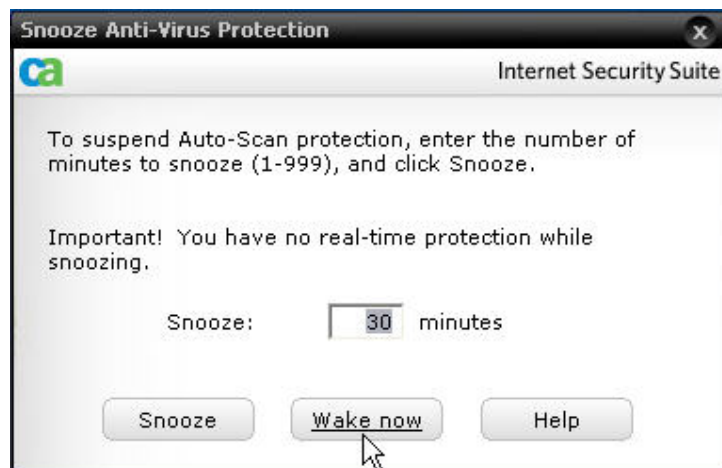

6. ▲ In the right hand column scroll across and find a file called beegd10.ocx highlight it and then click on the OK button.

How To Setup File Exclusion Scanning For CA Internet Security Suite 2010 Formally Known As Vet Antivirus

7. ▲ The beegd10.ocx file is now set to be excluded from all scans click on the Apply button then close the Home screen.
8. ■ Right mouse click on CA Security Centre icon in the tray menu next to time display bottom right hand corner of screen, go to My Computer and then click on Enable Snooze. (Refer image 1)

9. ▲ Click on the Wake now button to enable CA Internet Security Suite.